

Roosevelt Island Raquet Club

Roosevelt Island, New York

This club was designed on a very restricted site on Roosevelt Island in the East River in New York City. The site is partially located directly below the Manhattan Bridge which created a safety hazard from objects dropping from the bridge.

The club includes eleven subsurface irrigated Har-Tru tennis courts in two air structures that remain inflated over the courts year round. One structure is air conditioned for summer play.

A clubhouse with complete facilities is located on one end of a structure with windows to view tennis on the courts.