

Central Oahu Regional Park Tennis Center

Waipio, Oahu, Hawaii

The island of Oahu in Hawaii did not have a tennis tournament venue with adequate courts and facilities to host a major tennis event. The city and county of Honolulu retained Global to develop a master plan and the tennis specific construction documents for a new tennis center. The venue was designed to be constructed in two phases.

The first phase includes 20 courts and two comfort stations in a park-like setting. The final phase includes the stadium court, a 4-court training facility, a large clubhouse and a tournament support area. The Central Oahu Regional Park Tennis Center provides organizers with the capability to host local, state, national and international tournaments.

Awards for Design Excellence

2003 United States Tennis Association

2003 United States Tennis Court & Track Builders Association