The Connecticut Tennis Center is located on the campus of Yale University, adjacent to the famous Yale Bowl, Coxe Cage, the Cullman Indoor Tennis Center, and is entered through the Walter Camp Gate on the site of the former Yale Tennis Courts.

The Tennis Center was designed to coordinate the tennis center requirements of Yale University for its student recreational activities, the varsity tennis team, and to serve as a venue for an ATP International Tennis Tournament.

The stadium is designed to accommodate 15,000 spectators and is supported by twenty-two field courts.
